Clay Pottery

A World of Pottery imports finished pottery from Tonala, Mexico, a clay rich area where talented artists have faithfully followed this traditional occupation of pottery making for centuries. Before importing, we oversee the production to ensure that proper manufacturing fundamentals are followed: coil building, open firing and use of natural pigments are necessary elements used to help produce quality pottery with smooth to the touch even surfacing that possesses a warm earthy appearance designed for consistent long term garden décor use.

A World of Pottery is proud to be distinguished by our unique designs in pottery, vases and urns with inimitable colors that our clients continually select and favor. Let us bring part of the beauty of Mexico to your home.
